

ROOMMATE PREFERENCE CARD

Your roommate should be someone with whom you are comfortable living and sharing a bathroom. Good communication, reasonable expectations, compromise and cooperation will be the foundation for creating a successful roommate relationship. If you consider the following before you select a roommate, there will be a greater chance that the person you request will be a good match for you. Before you find someone you want to live with, take some time to consider likes and dislikes about your living styles, sleeping preferences, smoking habits and visitors.

- How clean and organized are you? How clean and organized do you like to keep your room?
- What are your study habits? Can you work with noise?
- When do you prefer to go to bed? When do you prefer to wake up?
- Do you plan to have overnight guests as permitted?
- Ideally what will your room be? A place to socialize and have friends over often or a place of quiet study?
- Do you smoke cigarettes? Do you want a roommate who smokes cigarettes?

Roommate Preference

Once you have discussed the above questions with your desired roommate, complete this portion of the card and return it to Housing and Residence Life. Cornish can only honor specific roommate requests upon receipt of the Roommate Preference Card from both students. Although we cannot guarantee placement, we will do our best to accommodate student requests for specific roommates received by July 31.
